Blue Watercare Station

WHAT IS IT?

The Blue Watercare Drinkstation is not a traditional drinking trough. It is a complete drinking water management system that combines clean drinking water, individual drinking stations, and automatic water care.

WHAT DOES IT DO?

Clean drinking water

The Drinkstation is designed to actively combat contamination such as feed residues, mucus, and biofilm. The drinking water is kept in continuous motion and treated with UV-C.

Calm drinking

Two or three individual drinking stations provide each cow with a calm and comfortable place to drink, without disturbance from other cows.

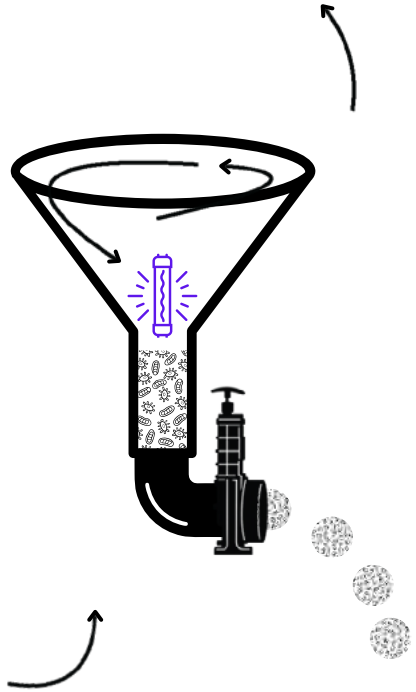

24/7 WATER TREATMENT

Even when you're not around, the Blue Watercare Drinkstation works 24/7 to maintain drinking water quality. Water circulation, debris removal, and UV-C treatment continuously work together to reduce bacterial load and enrich the water with oxygen. The germ count is reduced to below the generally accepted standard for "good drinking water" of 10,000 CFU/ml, while eliminating all E. coli bacteria.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

Less cleaning work

Thanks to its funnelshaped design, dirt has no chance to settle on the walls of the drinking station. The continuous water flow ensures that debris is directed toward the collection point. When the valve is opened, this dirt is flushed away. As a result, you spend less time on cleaning and have more time for other tasks.

WHAT DOES IT DELIVER?

Clean and fresh drinking water
Low-bacteria, oxygen-rich watersupports a healthy foundation.

A calm drinking spot
To allow cows to drink undisturbed and in sufficient quantity.
